APPOINTMENTS

Made by Annual Conference, M. E. Church South.

Many Changes Made in Locations of Preachers by the Session Held at Paintsville.

The Western Virginia Annual Conference of the M. E. Church South, held at Paintsville, Ky., adjourned last Monday at noon, after a very pleasant and successful session. The ministers expressed themselves as having enjoyed the occasion more than usual. The entertainment provided by the good people of Paintsville for the members of the conference and the visitors was of the best in every particular. The guests thoroughly appreciated the hospitality extended to them.

On Sunday three interesting services were held. In the morning Bishop E. E. Hoss preached a great sermon. The handsome and spacious new church building was filled to its utmost capacity. The music was exceedingly good. Mr. Paul Hutcherson, of Ashland, played the pipe organ in a most artistic manner. Miss Katherine Freese, of Louisa, exquisitely sang a soprano solo. The local choir very creditably rendered some choice music.

In the afternoon a memorial service was held, at which appropriate tribute was paid to the ministers and their widows who died during the year. Among the number were Rev. Zephaniah Meek and Mrs. Charity Sullivan. Miss Freese sang by special request at this service.

Dr. Gross Alexander preached Sunday evening to a very large audience. He is one of the most learned men in Methodism. Miss Josephine Harkins, of Prestonsburg, sang a solo which was very much enjoyed by all present.

On Monday just before noon the appointments for the year were read. The list contained many surprises. It is said more changes were made than ever before in this conference.

The Wrong Numbers.

It is not exactly correct to speak of the locks at Chapman and Salt-peter as No. 4 and No. 5. Properly speaking there are only three locks on the Big Sandy river, No. 1 at Cattlettsburg, No. 2 at Kavanaugh, and No. 3 at Louisa. The locks at Chapman and Salt-peter are designated as No. 1 Levisa fork and No. 1 Big fork.

ROBBED W. W. CORDELL.

Pension Agent is the Victim of a Robbery in Martin County.

Special Pension Agent Wayne Cordell, well known all through this section of the county, was the victim of a bold burglar while in the adjoining county of Martin a short time ago. He had gone to the house of Uriah Harmon, on the Emily fork of Wolfe creek, to stay all night, and some time after he had gone to bed a man supposed to be Steve Diamond, who formerly lived in Fort Gay, entered the room Mr. Cordell was occupying and carried off his coat and vest. The loss of his good clothes didn't worry him very much, but in the vest were a gold watch and chain worth eighty dollars, and in the pocket of the vest was about twenty dollars in money. The vest was found the next morning near the house, but watch, money and thief were gone.

News of the robbery was sent out over the country and a reward was offered for the capture of the thief. Sheriff Stone was on the lookout, and some time last week he arrested Diamond in this city and carried him to Fort Gay and turned him over to a deputy sheriff.

Diamond was handcuffed and taken to Martin county. Here they were met by Uriah Harmon who claimed the prisoner and the reward. He was turned over to Harmon, but during the night, handcuffed as he was, escaped to Marrowbone Creek in West Virginia, where, it is said, some one managed to cut the bracelets from his wrists and thus release him. It is said that he had, before his final escape, managed to get his hands out of the fetters, but he was again bound, securely as was thought, but Diamond seemed to have shown them that they had another thing coming. So far as can be learned Diamond is still at large.

LATER:—Since the foregoing was put into type it is learned that Diamond has been captured again and is now in Wayne county jail. He was caught on Twelve Pole by Uriah Harmon, at whose house the robbery was committed.

Harvey Yonts, of Torchlight, who was hurt at Kenova on Wednesday and was brought to the King's Daughters' Hospital, is improving and his injuries are not believed to be at all serious. Mrs. Yonts and Mrs. C. P. Lykins, of Torchlight, came down this morning to visit him. He will probably be able to be taken to his home by the last of the week.—Cattlettsburg Tribune.

NOMINATIONS

Made by Democrats for Senate and Legislature.

Jerome T. Prichard, of Boyd, and W. J. Vaughan, of Lawrence, Are Named for These Places.

The Democrats of the 32nd Senatorial District, the 98th Legislative District, and Boyd county met at the court house in Cattlettsburg on Monday afternoon to nominate a full roster of candidates, to be voted for at the coming November election.

The Legislative convention was the first to convene, and was called to order by Hon. A. O. Carter, of Lawrence county. Watt M. Prichard, of Boyd, was elected chairman, and F. T. D. Wallace, Jr., of Lawrence, was named as secretary. The names of John E. McCall, of Boyd, and W. J. Vaughan, of Lawrence, were presented for nomination, but McCall's name was withdrawn and Vaughan was nominated by acclamation.

The Senatorial convention was then called to order by Hon. A. O. Carter, with Tom J. Dowling as secretary. Only one name was presented, that of Jerome T. Prichard, of Boyd, who was nominated by acclamation.

Hon. W. J. Vaughan.

The nomination of W. J. Vaughan for the Legislature, by the Democrats of Boyd and Lawrence counties, was purely a voluntary action on the part of the convention that met at Cattlettsburg on last Monday. Mr. Vaughan was not a candidate, but we are glad to learn that he will accept the nomination. At the time his nomination was made he was at Livingston, Ky., attending to his duties as a Sunday School organizer and lecturer, to which great work he gives almost his entire time. He has gained the reputation of being one of the most efficient men in the entire country in this work.

Mr. Vaughan agrees to accept the nomination with the understanding that he is not to be expected to neglect his Sunday School work to make a canvass of the district.

Having accepted the nomination he naturally desires to be elected and will appreciate the support of all voters just as thoroughly, or more so, as though he had called upon each and made a special appeal.

Mr. Vaughan is able and clean, just the kind of man that is so badly needed at Frankfort. The office is seeking him. If elected he will serve the people faithfully and honestly.

A Vicious Practice.

THE NEWS does not know that any of those now attending the public school or the college use a "key" to assist them in the solving of arithmetical or algebraic problems, but it desires to sound a note of warning against the use of such questionable aids. They are not "aids," they are positively injurious to any pupil who uses them. The writer has had years of experience as teacher and pupil and knows whereof he speaks.

"his paper has neither space nor time to spare in showing why the use of a key is hurtful, but the reasons are abundant and so plain as to be almost self-evident. If you have contracted this pernicious habit get out of it as soon as possible. Burn the book and never use another.

Raise Mules.

T. S. Robertson, of Bethel, sold to a Bowling Green dealer thirty-two yearling mules at $140 a head; two yearlings for $350, and a pair of work mules for $500.—Sharpsburg World.

There is food for thought and a stimulus to action on part of our farmers in this paragraph. The demand for good mules will probably never be less than it is now, and the price, instead of lessening, will in all probability continue as high, and possibly will be higher. People who use animals for draft are just beginning to find out the true worth of a mule, and they are also finding out that the better they are cared for the better work they will do. As this paper said a few months ago, a mule is, when kindly treated, more docile than a horse, has more patience, is more easily kept, and weight for weight, will pull more than a horse. Any man who pretends to farm should keep two or three mares, good ones, and they should bring him every year two or three mule colts.

Read that paragraph again: Thirty-two yearling mules at $140 a head, two yearlings for $350, and a pair of work mules for $500! What else can you raise on your farm so profitably and so easily? And while you are asleep the stock and the stuff to feed it are growing and increasing in value. Get the habit of making your farm pay—you can do it—and then you will not get the habit of moving to the West, only to move back as soon as you can find the means to come back on.

It's not in the line of mule raising, but this is a good time to say, and to say it emphatically, that, taking it all around, up and down, inside and out, the Big Sandy valley is the best poor man's country on the face of the earth.

Joe Layne Visits Former Home.

Joe Layne, who moved to Paris, Ill., twenty-five years ago, came to his old home recently and spent a few days with relatives. He lived not far from Louisa and was a quiet, industrious and worthy citizen. He is a son-in-law of Capt. O. D. Botner, but his wife has been dead several days. Mr. Layne returned to Illinois last Monday.

PLEASANT REUNION.

Louisa Family Gathers at Home From Various Parts of the Country.

The family of Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Wroten has enjoyed a pleasant reunion of its members during the past ten or twelve days. All the members except Mrs. George F. Wroten and two children, of Savannah, Ga., were present. Mrs. J. F. Rodarmor, of New York, has been here over two weeks. George F. and Milton J., of Savannah, arrived last Friday morning, and on Saturday Mr. Rodarmor arrived. The circle, with the exceptions named, was then complete, and the occasion has been a very pleasant and happy one. It is four years since the members of the family were together, and all deeply regret that they could not stay longer. Mr. Rodarmor returned to New York on Tuesday last and Mrs. Rodarmor and George will leave on Friday. Milton will probably leave next Wednesday morning.

The pleasure of this reunion was greatly heightened by the presence of Sam Freese, who came from Cannel City expressly to be present on this occasion. Ten years ago he and George Wroten were with the same business firm in New York, and after they left there they did not meet again until last week. Sam brought his boy, Morton, and left him with grandparents while he went to New York on Sunday last.

The Coming Concert.

THE NEWS again calls attention to the coming of the Columbia Concert Company, the splendid quintette of instrumentalists who will give a grand concert in the court house, this city, on the evening of Monday, October 4th.

Nothing like this has ever been heard in Louisa, and it will be something no lover of fine music can afford to miss. Remember, too, that when you buy a ticket for this concert you are helping a good cause, as a part of the proceeds will be given to the M. E. Church South. Remember the day.

It is hoped and expected that many Louisians will attend the District meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, to be held at Ashland, October 2nd and 3rd, and thus avail themselves of the opportunity for hearing Mrs. J. B. Cobb, Associate Secretary of the Woman's Board. She is a power and inspiration. Each member of the Society at this place is urged to attend.

A GREAT LOSS

Is the Death of Gov. Johnson, of Minnesota.

Great Democratic Statesman Passes Away After a Severe Surgical Operation.

A NATIONAL LOSS.

In the early dawn of today Gov. Johnson, of Minnesota, passed to his reward. Born some forty-odd years ago of Swedish origin, in the State of which he was three times Governor, a worker from childhood, pursuing his studies under conditions the most arduous, John A. Johnson was to illustrate the extraordinary prerogatives of this new American land in which his people had made their home. From the first he evinced a rare capability and a rarer industry, a genius for touching the life and the sympathies of his fellowmen at many and various points, such a grasp of affairs, so clear and well balanced an outlook, as to be designated inevitably as arbiter in many a vexed situation.

In stature and appearance Gov. Johnson was typical of the sturdy race from which he sprung. The very lowliness of his beginnings, the very handicaps of his start were never lost sight of in the dignity of his office, which he held clean and high as a trustee of the people; the cause of freedom and humanity was his cause, and recognition of his championship of the West—sometimes in open defiance of the East—drew to him the suffrages of the electorate without regard to party lines. It happened thus that Gov. Johnson, a militant Democrat, was thrice chosen as Chief Executive of a typically Republican State.

With Harmon, of Ohio, and Marshall, of Indiana, he was part of that newer hope from which the party had such good cause to augur, uplift and encouragement; less a scholar than the one, more tolerant than the other, he preached a doctrine of emancipation from shams and shackles which united all discords.

He dies at the time of his greatest usefulness to country no less than to party, and the chorus of regret which goes up will know no lines of partisan cleavage.—Louisville Times.

The Hudson-Fulton Stamp.

The two-cent postage stamp issued in commemoration of the discovery of the Hudson river and the use of steam on boats as a navigating power will be given to the public September 25. The engraving in the center shows as a background the Falls of the Hudson river, with Hudson's ship, the Half Moon, sailing majestically up on one side of the river with all sails set and the Clermont steaming down the river on the opposite side.

In the foreground is an Indian canoe representing the first means of navigation on the river. Another canoe containing four Indians is in the background. On the top line of the border of the stamp in Gothic letters is the inscription: "Hudson-Fulton Tercentenary, 1609-1909." The stamp is oblong shape like the James-ton Exposition stamp, 7-8 by 1 1-8 inches in size.

Rulings as to Leaf Tobacco.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has made a ruling for the benefit of inspectors in regard to the business of retail dealers in leaf tobacco authorized by the Payne act. The commissioner says:

"The exemption from taxation provided for by the act of August requires that the tobacco handled by retail dealers in leaf tobacco shall be 'unstemmed leaf tobacco in the natural leaf, in the hand, and not manufactured or altered in any way, raised and grown in the United States.' Therefore, where such tobacco is packed in advance of sales, inspecting officers will be justified in taking the necessary action to ascertain the character of such tobacco in order that the interests of the Government may be subserved. Such inspections will necessarily cause liability to losses or embarrassments which would otherwise be avoided by strict adherence to the law and regulations.

"Registered dealers in leaf tobacco and registered retail dealers in leaf tobacco should mark the distinction between the two kinds of business as defined by the law and avoid undertaking to blend the two. The business of retail dealer in leaf tobacco cannot be carried on on the same premises with a registered dealer in leaf tobacco. The two businesses must be kept separate one from the other. The necessity for this requirement is apparent, and collectors should see that it is strictly adhered to."

Sweet Euphonious and Brave.

Among the correspondents to the Big Sandy News are the following: "Nobody's Darling," "Black Eyes," "Country Lasses," "Buckskin Boss," "Blue Belle," "Dew Drops," and "Brave Washington." What a sweet, euphonious and brave crowd!—Wayne News.

And the News will say with pleasure that no country newspaper ever had a better corps of correspondents. They are there with the goods, every time.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a public meeting next Sunday evening, Sept. 26th, at the M. E. Church South. The public is cordially invited to attend, and all the members are urged to be present. There will be special music, papers and speeches.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Usual Amount of Business Being Transacted by the Lawrence Court.

Bill Murphy was tried for shooting and wounding Nels. Prince, and the jury reduced the offense to a misdemeanor and fined him sixty dollars. Bill is paying it in jail.

Pow McCoy, out on bail charged with burning William Thompson's barn, was arrested on a peace warrant sworn out by Mr. Thompson. He was unable to furnish bond on this warrant and was sent to jail in default. As we go to press McCoy's trial for barn burning is going on, having begun on Wednesday.

In the case of Wallace Borders against the C. & O. Railway for damages for alleged injury, both sides consented to a majority verdict. The jury, standing nine to three for the plaintiff, gave Mr. Borders a verdict for $1000. The case will be appealed.

Last week the grand jury adjourned on Wednesday and assembled again yesterday morning with a big lot of witnesses for examination. It will probably make a final report on Saturday.

Eli Sloan Dead.

THE NEWS and the many friends of Eli Sloan, of Fallsburg, regret to learn of his death, which occurred a few days ago. Mr. Sloan was the Fallsburg and Fullers correspondent of this paper, using the signature U. E. S., and his letters will be much missed. He wrote in a quaint, direct way, going much into detail and missing nothing which might interest his many readers.

Mr. Sloan was a man of much intelligence. He had read much and remembered it all. The Yatesville correspondent of the NEWS says he was a minister of the Christian Church, preaching quite often. He was a good man and useful citizen and will be greatly missed by the community in which he had lived so long.

Rev. W. L. Reid, the minister assigned to the pastorate of the M. E. Church South at this place, comes here from Cattlettsburg. He is said to be an able preacher.

Bowling Green, Sept. 15.—The un-written law was recognized by the grand jury here today when it refused to return an indictment against Chas. Campbell for killing his brother-in-law, Charles Bullard, whom it is alleged he found in a compromising position with his wife. The killing occurred on June 1 and Campbell has since been out on bail.

Bowling Green, Ky., Sept. 15.—Jim Stewart, the negro arrested about a month ago for an assault upon a white woman, Mrs. Reinberger, and sent to Louisville to escape a mob, was brought to Bowling Green quietly at noon today, arraigned, pleaded guilty and was on his way to the Eddyville penitentiary in three hours. He was given a twelve-year sentence.

President LeBus said he turned back the bonus in order to remove all obstacles in the way of making this year's pool a success.

At Owingsville court Monday J. Hord Armstrong bought 5 pairs of broke mules at $275 to $325 a pair. McKee Bros. this week delivered to the Frankfort penitentiary 500 bushels of their small potatoes—the ones that went through the grader. They have sold and shipped to date 27 carloads of potatoes, averaging 500 bushels to the car, and still have on hand about 2,500 bushels. They are well satisfied with their crop, though the yield would have been nearly 50 per cent greater, they say, if the weather had been more favorable.—Versailles Sun.

In a speech in Chicago President Taft advocated reform in the courts, saying that under the present system the poor man is not on an equal footing with the rich litigant. Mr. Taft said he would urge Congress to give authority for a commission to straighten out the shortcomings of the Federal Courts. He said that the Supreme Court was clumsy, but there was some excuse for this, as the Judges are overworked. He said the procedure of the criminal courts is a disgrace to American civilization.

S. W. Hager, formerly Auditor of Kentucky, has closed a deal with W. C. Adams, of Owensboro, whereby he becomes sole owner of the Owensboro Inquirer. Mr. Hager will go to Owensboro Monday and take charge of the paper. The paper will be published as Democratic in politics.

Bishop William George McCloskey, for forty-one years head of the diocese of Louisville, and the oldest bishop in the hierarchy of the Catholic Church in America, died at the Preston Park Seminary, Louisville, Dr. W. Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 15.—Negro women school teachers from a number of counties in Eastern Kentucky are here today before the Franklin county grand jury in the investigation as to the peddling of school examination questions, charged against Kirtley, recently brought here from Chicago. In her petition she charges him with such cruel and inhuman treatment that she was forced to leave him. She asks for absolute divorce if it can be granted and if not then a divorce from bed and board. She also prays for $25 per month alimony and $200 maintenance. Mr. Dodd is a well known contractor of this city.

Aerial Lodge, No. 1, A. F. and A. M., was formed in the balloon Massachusetts at an elevation of more than 7,000 feet, this being the first meeting of the kind ever held, says a Greenfield, Mass., telegram to the Chicago Tribune. The lodge was conducted with all the Masonic observances possible under the conditions. J. J. Van Alkenburg, of South Framingham, was worshipful master; Jacob Benton, of Winchester, was senior warden, and Charles J. Glidden was junior warden. The balloon started from the grounds of the Aero Club of New England at Pittsfield, in an attempt at a height record, but the atmospheric conditions were not suitable and the balloon got into a "pocket" of clouds. At the highest point recorded by the barograph, 7,200 feet, in the midst of the dense clouds, the Masonic ceremony took place.

Reports from Breathitt county indicate that the enemies of Ed Callahan are keeping that gentleman in a state of armed siege. Fearing to appear in the open since he was shot down in the door of his store about six months ago, Callahan has had built a long board walk from his dwelling house to his store, walled on each side with heavy timbers, so that he may go from his home to his business without being seen or shot. The walled-up walk terminates at the rear of the store building where there is a small, well-enclosed office. Here the besieged man stays during business hours, never venturing even into the main room of his store. His clerks, chief of whom is his son, Wilson, come into the office to make reports and consult him about the business. Armed men prevent other intrusion.

Mr. James Hourigan, who lives 3 miles from town on the Perryville pike, although 78 years of age, is one of the most energetic and active men in the county. During the past summer he has made a full hand on the farm, and will not permit anyone to lay claim to doing more work in a day than he. He takes great pride in the fact that he can stack as much or more hay in a given length of time than any other person in his community. Recently he put up four large stacks of hay in one day, and was as chipper at nightfall as anyone on the place. Mr. Hourigan has hauled all his hay this season, and it is doubtful if anyone in the vicinity has a crop in better condition. Mr. Hourigan formerly lived in Marion county, moving to Mercer about two years ago. He has the best of health, and is rarely ever prevented from going into the field and doing a full day's work.—Harrodsburg Republican.

Big Sandy Apple Crop.

The apple crop in the Big Sandy valley is heavier this year than at any previous time within the past fifteen years. All kinds of fruits, including grapes and berries, have flourished. The apple crop is simply enormous, and thousands of bushels lie rotting in the orchards. Farmers, unable to sell more than the flower of their crop, are making cider and preserving vast quantities of the fruit, but even after this has been done there still remain thousands of barrels for which there is no accessible market.

Some of the best of these orchards lie several miles remote from railway facilities, and this fact adds greatly to the enormity of the waste.—Commercial.

Mattie.

The Henry Clay Literary Society held its third session at the school house last Friday night. An enthusiastic crowd was present. The program was a success from start to finish. The debate was the climax of interest. The subject for the first of the series between the Blaine society and the Henry Clay to be debated at this place Friday night is, Resolved; That intemperance has caused more sorrow and destruction to the human family than war. An Ashland paper calls W. J. Vaughan a plausible candidate. And this is when the campaign is only just begun!

We read the faculty list of a fine high school in Minerva, Ky., the other day, and there was not a single "Prof." in it. It is worthy of note.

A bet of a cartload of money to a ginger snap that President Taft said his worst at Winona is perfectly safe. He can go no further even if he shells the woods for ship subsidy.

A negro educator, in an address at Paintsville, says that the South is the negro's best friend. He knows because he had to borrow money to get out of New York, where he had gone to solicit funds for educational purposes. No matter what your color, race, previous condition or object in life, New York's welcome is extended to you when you come to spend, not to solicit.—Courier-Journal.

The dramatic coincidence which brings two claimants to Polar priority close together is by no means so exceptional an occurrence as might be believed. It will be remembered how, all but simultaneously, Darwin and Russell Wallace announced the theory of natural selection; the infinitesimal calculus was determined by Leibnitz and Newton at practically the same time; Franklin has to fight it out with a Frenchman by reason of the timeliness of his kite-flying discoveries; and Neptune sailed into our ken with two godfathers.—Courier-Journal.

The following bit of useful and humorous information was given to a young student on his way to college by his aged father. Students in Louisa can read what the fond father said and profit thereby:

"Son, I want you to realize in the first place that for the hard-earned money which I am spending for your education, I want good hard study in return. I do not expect you to take first place in your class, nor to teach the professors anything, but I do want you to bring home with you some prize, even if snatched in passing from the bargain counter. First honors do not mean a good shortstop, nor a good quarter-back, a fine dancer, an expert card player, or spendthrift. By honors I mean that I want you to take a high standing in your class work, close application to your studies, and take a good standing in deportment. Do not try to be too smart, brain fever may result, do not discover the North Pole, two men are already in trouble over it, do not startle science by the invention of wingless flying machines. Do not revise Euclid, let Webster spell English his own way; let prohibition, Christian Science, cigarettes and joy rides alone. The young idea learns to shoot there—but not craps. Study."

Jerome Prichard, nominated by the Democrats of this district for the State Senate, is one of Boyd county's most prominent and progressive farmers. He is a man of more than ordinary intelligence.

Return of the Explorers.

The steamer Oscar II., with Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the North Pole explorer on board, reached New York early last Monday morning and anchored to await inspection by the health officer of the port.

The Oscar II. lay at anchor off Fire Island until shortly after midnight when she weighed anchor and proceeded to quarantine. There the steamer anchored to await the inspection of the health officers at 6 o'clock. Meantime several tugs loaded with passengers hung about the liner.

At sunrise the steamer was dressed with flags and preparations were made to receive the explorer's wife and children, who were coming down in a tug, and to meet a reception committee of city officials and friends of Dr. Cook, who went down the harbor on the steamer Grand Republic.

Dr. Cook was standing amid a group of passengers on the saloon deck when the health officer boarded the ship. The explorer's face was tinged with a healthy bronze and his demeanor was modest and unassuming. He answered questions freely, but declined to discuss the attitude of Commander Peary.

Commander Robert E. Peary, after a successful quest for the North Pole, returned to Sydney Monday on board the steamer Roosevelt. The explorer's wife was the first one to greet him, and as the Roosevelt, after an absence of over one year, steamed into Sydney Harbor under a brilliant sky, the explorer and his ship were given a hearty welcome from the assembled shipping.

At an early hour Monday, when the Roosevelt was still edging her way along the Cape Breton coast, the steam yacht Sheelah, owned by James Ross, president of the Dominion Coal Company, put to sea, carrying Mrs. Robert Peary, her daughter, Miss Marie Peary, little Robert E. Peary, Jr., and a party of friends, all eager to meet the returning explorer. Among those on board were Col. Borup, father of George Borup, a member of the Peary expedition; George Kennan, the author, and John Kehl, the United States Consul at Sydney. The war of words, it is presumed, will soon be on.

Masterly Address by Negro.

One of the most important features of the Western Virginia Conference, M. E. Church, South, held at Paintsville last week, was the address of Prof. J. W. Gilbert, colored, of the Payne Layne College, of Augusta, Ga. He spoke at length upon the race problems and incidentally remarked that the literary production entitled

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" was the most fragrant misrepresentation of and burlesque upon the ante-bellum conditions of the South. This remark brought an uproar of applause from the conference. He also remarked that his experience had taught him that the North was not interested in the education of the negro race. That he recently went to New York City for contributions for that purpose and not only did not receive contributions, but had to borrow money to defray his expenses back home.

He said the politician was the negro's worst enemy and incidentally severely condemned the days of reconstruction in the South, and said that this primarily was the white man's country and that the negro was in the South to stay.

His masterly plea for the intervention of Christian love as the only salvation of the race problem brought tears to the eyes of all members of the conference. Upon conclusion of his speech a contribution of nearly $200 was made up from the members and visitors of the conference.

Arthur M. Hughes, prominent in Lawrence county politics, and postmaster of Louisa, was here Monday looking after business matters. Mr. Hughes was a guest of his brother, Ed S. Hughes, Republican candidate for County Clerk, and predicts victory for the Republican ticket this fall.—Independent.

DEEDS, NOT WORDS.

Louisa People Have Absolute Proof of Deeds at Home.

It's not words but deeds that prove true merit.

For Louisa kidney sufferers, Have made their local reputation.

Proof lies in the testimony of Louisa people who have been cured to stay cured.

Mrs. Sarah Pigg, Main Street, Louisa, Ky., says: "I suffered from many distressing symptoms of kidney trouble. My back was the weakest spot and the dull, heavy pains through my loins were almost unbearable. I was weak, tired and devoid of ambition and often was annoyed by headaches and dizzy spells. Irregular passages of the kidney secretions also bothered me and I felt like giving up. Doan's Kidney Pills were at length brought to my notice and I began their use. Before long the kidney secretions were regulated and the other symptoms of my trouble disappeared. I strongly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to my friends." (Statement given June 27, 1908.)

On June 22, 1909, Mrs. Pigg added to the above: "I can safely say that Doan's Kidney Pills cure kidney trouble permanently. During the past year and a half, I have not had the least return of this complaint."

NOTICE

Green Valley school house Sunday, September 26, 1909, at 10:30 a. m.,

cordially invited to come.

Hi Pauley, who is suffering severely from carbuncle of the groin, has

The sons of the late Robert Crutcher have placed on the grave of their ing monument. Mr. Crutcher was a very highly respected citizen, hon-creditable to his children.

The Rev. D. H. Reid.

This gentleman, some years ago
pastor of the M. E. Church South, this city, stopped in Louisa on last Tuesday en route from the Paints-ville Conference to Huntington where he was stationed last year. He was accompanied by Mrs. Reid and their three youngest children, and they remained in this city with friends until Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Reid is justly considered one of the ablest men in the Western Virginia Conference. He is a thoughtful, scholarly man, deeply in earnest and thoroughly alive to the responsibilities of his calling. He preached once while Conference was in session, and his sermon was rated highly and praised by all who heard it. Mr. Reid will not take work again with this Conference but will transfer to the Kentucky body.

Boyd County Ticket.

The Democrats of Boyd county have nominated the following ticket:

County Judge, John Wurts.
County Court Clerk, Ellis E. Lawrence.

County Attorney, Frank C. Malin.
Circuit Court Clerk, John Purdie.
Sheriff, George W. Calvin.
Jailer, R. A. Coffey.

Supt. of Schools, O. K. Campbell.
Assessor, Kenna F. Chapman.
Coroner, Dr. J. F. Sparks.
Surveyor, Wm. McDyer.
The Republicans affect to think lightly of this ticket, viewing the political situation in that county as being altogether and entirely favorable to them. Before the November election they will begin to sit up and take notice, and the surprise which awaits them will be somewhat stunning.

Paintsville's Hospitality.

Those who visited Paintsville during the Conference were delighted with the manner in which all were entertained. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. C.
Mayo were heartily assisted by the people in general. Notwithstanding the large crowd present, the preparations for entertainment were on such a large scale that there was room for many more. Mr. Mayo expressed regret that the preachers did not take their wives to Paintsville with them.

The new church building is almost completed and the next thirty days will see it finished. It was used for the conference sessions. The building is one of the finest in the State. It will have cost about $60,000 when finished. The seating capacity is about 1900. Lewis Mayo Chapel will be an honor and an ornament to Paintsville for several centuries.

The Public School.

The Louisa public school opened on Monday last under very favorable conditions. The attendance is more than usually large, but on account of the college building being used the public building is not crowded.

J. B. McClure, Noah Cisco, G. M.
Copley, Mrs. W. N. Sullivan and Miss Sallie Gearheart are the teachers, each of whom is a trained and experienced instructor. The school is well graded and each grade has many pupils. It is the bounden duty of parents to see that their children who are in the school age are in their seats in the school room five days in the week and every week until the end of the term.

STRENUOUS COLLECTION.

A Louisa Wholesale Firm Forced to Chase a Customer for Collection of Bill.

While the NEWS regrets to say that in the past two or three years a few men living along the upper Sandy and adjoining counties have defrauded some of our merchants and successfully got away with their swagings, it is glad to record that at least one scamp was lately caught and compelled to disgorge a part of the swag. But it took hard, fine work to do it, and the story, from start to finish, would make mighty interesting reading, and it would be profitable reading for those who think of defrauding their creditors and getting away, if any such there be.

The name of the man who tried and failed to beat a Louisa firm and get to the Northwest with the cash which he owed the firm is Harvey Adams, and he did business at Lytton, Magoffin county; and judging from reports he must have been in the condition of an old-time Loui-sian. This old-timer was met on Main street one day by a stranger who asked him if he was Owen Peck.
"No," said our friend, "I'm not,
but I'm owing everybody else."

Creditors far and wide were pressing Harve, so he concluded to clean up and make a break for the wild and woolly West. He sold everything anybody would buy, and sold strictly for cash. He was always at home if a caller wanted to pay, but he was out to everybody who had a claim.

Dixon, Moore & Co., of this place,
had a claim for a considerable sum against Mr. Adams. They had tried often and hard to get Adams to adjust, but, like poor coffee, he wouldn't settle. Friends in that region told the firm that Adams was preparing to skip and the household took steps to head him off and make him "come across."

The senior partner had had some experience along the line of hunting lame ducks, and upon him devolved the job of running down this particular game. The trips Mr. Dixon made down the river added much to the treasury of the C. & O., and the writs, warrants, capias, summons and other legal papers he took out would make a fine study for a young lawyer. He finally located the man and his family and moving stuff in Ashland, and thither he and Marshal
Dave Wellman repaired.

They oscillated between Catletts-burg and Ashland, finally rounding up the game in the latter town. Dixon "felt" around a brother-in-law of Adams, trying to pump him till he

The Fountain Head of Life

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not told where the latter was. Finally he thought he had the much-wanted man right where he could grab him, and then where to find Dave Wellman was the question.

Sweating all over he started to find the marshal, and as he turned a corner he ran plump into him. Almost breathless he began to tell his story, when Dave interrupted him by saying, "H—ll, I've got the money in my pocket." He had found his man and his wife, and when he arrested him the woman wanted to know what it was for. When told she said she would pay it, and making a dive into the Deposit Bank of Fidelity and pulled out a roll big enough to choke a cow. Adams still demurred, but the play ended by his paying the debt in full and twenty-five dollars for probable costs.

Wheat in Boyd.

Read what the farmers in Boyd have done this year in the matter of raising wheat. You can do just as well in Lawrence if you get the right sort of seed. The wheat article published in the NEWS a few weeks ago is, we are pleased to note, creating much interest among the farmers of this county.

"D. I. Hogan, of Rush, was a business visitor in Catlettsburg recently.
Mr. Hogan has been a very busy man since the threshing season began, having threshed more than half the wheat harvested this year in the East

Fork country. He says the yield in many instances is 18 to 20 bushels to the bushel of seed sown. It will require about ten days yet for him to finish threshing the crops now contracted, which will run him later into the season than in any former year. He ran into a surprise a few days ago, just when he thought the work finished and was fixing to house his machine for the winter, to discover there was yet two weeks' work before him.

"He was taken into a certain community to thresh what he supposed to be two or three 'sets' where he found there were more than twenty."

Died Suddenly.

Some time last Sunday night a young girl named Vanderpool, an inmate of the family of Mrs. Sarah Gearheart, of this city, was taken very suddenly and severely ill. For a short time domestic remedies were used, but they gave no relief. About 12 o'clock a physician was called and soon pronounced the case hopeless.
All was done that it was possible to do, but all was unavailing, death occurring about seven o'clock on the following morning. The trouble was congestion of the lungs.

Miss Vanderpool came from the Beaver creek country, in Floyd county, where her parents live, but for several years she had made her home with Mrs. Gearheart. The body was sent to Beaver on Monday afternoon.

Tonic or Stimulant?

There is an immense difference between a tonic and a stimulant. Up one day, way back the next; that's a stimulant. Steady progress day by day toward perfect a strong tonic. The only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol. Do not stimulate unless your doctor says so.

FARM NEWS.

APPEARS TO BE ROUP.

Editor Home and Farm:

Please tell me what to do for my chickens. They seem to be healthy, but the comb and eyes get watery and yellow hard matter gathers in the mouth. Have lost two before I knew what was the matter with them. I gave black pepper and salts and greased their heads. They seemed to get better, but don't lay much. I have about eighty-three.

Mrs. Minnie Bishop.

From symptoms given in above letter it seems that the fowls have roup, though as yet in a mild form. Roup first appears as a cold and usually the fowls will gasp or make a wheezing sound when breathing. The eyes begin to water and the sides of the head become inflamed and apparently irritated, and to get relief the fowls will continually rub their faces against their wings. In a few days a cheesy matter will form in the corner of the eye or sometimes in both, and in the mouth. At this stage it is almost impossible to cure, and it is safer to kill the fowl and bury it. When the cold first appears remove the fowl to a dry room and feed lightly for a few days, bathe the head with carbollized vasoline and keep the fowls quiet. Clean up the poultry house and whitewash in and outside. Sprinkle lime on the floor and the disease will disappear.

OPEN FRONT OR CLOSED HOUSE.

In years past the majority of poultry keepers advocated closed houses where the temperature during the night never went below freezing, but in later years many successful breeders are using open front houses and claim their fowls are healthier and lay more eggs than when kept in warm houses. This objection to the closed house is that during the night the fowls would become hot and when the doors were opened during the day they would catch cold. They say that the open house should be so constructed that snow and rain will not blow in, and that a scratching shed must be provided for daily exercise.

LOOK AFTER THE HOUSE.

Now is the time to look after the poultry house and put it in good condition for the winter. See that the walks are drained so that you will not have to wade through mud when fall rains begin. Bank the earth up about the edges of the house and stop all cracks in roof and sides. Remove all trash and litter and whitewash inside and outside. Remove and burn the old nests and renew with fresh straw or hay.

Arrange the scratching shed and put in straw or leaves so that the fowls will get busy. Put all males in separate yards and give as much room as possible to the laying hens. Expensive arrangements for hens are not necessary. In fact cheap houses, comfortably arranged, are more satisfactory.

WHAT KIND OF HENS PAY

That's a hard question to answer. Is it the hen that lays the most eggs when prices are highest, or the hen that lays in the early spring, when we want to start the incubator for early broilers, or the hen that will become broody early and hatch out pullets for fall layers? No one hen will do everything, therefore it requires many kinds to make a success.

Do not discard a hen because she does not begin to lay at certain time. She may be the one that will furnish us the early fall layers for next year. Study your flock and it will not be difficult to pick out those that will be useful to you at some later time. All others should go to the market.

SAYS FOOD IS TOO HIGH.

We have a letter from one who has kept poultry for a number of years, which says that owing to the high price of grain he has decided to dispose of his fowls, as there is no longer any money in poultry. Surely the price of grain is not the fault, as eggs and poultry flesh have advanced far more than grain. A few years ago, during the summer months eggs often sold at less than ten cents a dozen and chickens at one dollar a dozen. During the past past summer eggs rarely sold for less than twenty-five cents a dozen and chickens sold at twenty-five cents a pound. There is more money now to be made in the poultry yard than ever before and our friend will act wise if he not only continues the business, but makes arrangements to increase it.

SEPTEMBER AND OCTOBER

IN THE POULTRY YARD.

The care given to the poultry during September and October has more to do with the success than that given during any other months of the year. This is the time when the hens are in moult and in poor condition to withstand the cool fall rains and cool nights, following closely upon the hot weather of July and August, and to us the duty of caring for them becomes more urgent. During rainy days the hens should be kept under shelter and be provided with a light, roomy scratching shed where they may have sunlight and exercise.

Wholesome food, fresh water, grit and green food should be liberally supplied, and, when possible, cut bone

NOTES.

One bushel of good grain will feed a hen one year.

Hens need grit, not sand. It must be hard and sharp to properly grind the food.

The best egg producers are never the best market fowls, but a combination will be most profitable.

Corn, properly fed, is a good winter food for laying hens, but be careful the way you feed.

Do not feed stimulants to laying hens. Exercise will keep them healthy.

Many packers lost money last year on cold storage eggs. The housekeepers want strictly fresh eggs.

Don't send dirty eggs to market. It gives one a bad impression of your business.

Well kept houses and yards are guarantees against dirty eggs.

Grade the eggs before sending to market—white and colored, and large and small, in separate boxes.

POULTRY HINTS.

The hens like good, clean nesting material.

Plant a plot that will furnish something green for the chickens.

Two weeks is said to be the length of time in which eggs for hatching may be safely kept.

Water becomes stagnant, and to avoid sickness, it should be changed often.

In burning the carcasses of diseased fowls, it is well to see that the bodies are wholly consumed.

Some of the most successful raisers have two yards for each flock, and change them from one to the other.

It's much easier to get rid of a thousand lice than a million. Go at them before they get the "upper hand" of you.

Dusting the chickens at least once a week with some good insect powder will do much toward ridding the place of vermin.

FOWLS THAT TRESPASS

A reader asks us if a neighbor can compel him to keep his fowls off his pasture. He says they do not injure the grass, in fact, that the grass grows better where they stay most. This, no doubt, is true, as the stock, if they are not forced by hunger, will not graze where chickens stay. The chickens help the grass, but they ruin it for grazing purposes, and the owner of the ground is perfectly right in compelling you to keep the fowls at home. From a legal standpoint he has a right to kill the fowls if you fail to comply. Laws have been passed in all the States which protect gardeners and farmers from depredations caused by fowls, and every sensible man will acknowledge the justice. A few hens can do more damage in a flower or vegetable garden than a cow or horse, and the owner should see to it that his neighbor is protected.

The newly established postoffice in Morgan county is called Burkhart.

At Decoy, Knott county, Ben Stacy shot and killed Floyd Shepherd and then shot himself, both dying instantly. The reported cause was jealousy.

A reward of $200 has been offered for the capture and return to Catlettsburg of George Bromley, a negro who killed Charley Burke in that town last January.

Charles Callihan, better known as "Jack," is now at the home of his uncle, Leander Patton, in Greenup, being in a very serious condition as a result from being struck on the right side of his head just above the temple Sunday evening with a quart whiskey bottle in the hands of a young man named Johnson.

Whitesburg, Ky., Sept. 14.—A big black bear has been seen by passersby crossing Cumberland mountains between this city and Stonega, Va., recently. It is thought that bruin escaped from some traveling circus and wandered back into the mountains. Women and children, as a result, will not venture out alone.

Robert Atkinson, of this city, and Miss Bessie Bowe were married at the bride's residence at Laynesville Saturday. They arrived here Sunday. The bride is a daughter of Son Bowe, formerly of this county, and is a charming young lady. The groom is a son of Dr. W. T. Atkinson and is a splendid young man.—Paintsville Herald.

The bridge at Pikeville is now completed, with the exception of the painting. With the coming of Judge Ford today it will be formally accepted by the Fiscal Court, and thrown open to the public. This is a wonderful improvement, and one that will be lasting for Pikeville, and the Fiscal Court is to be commended for its wise move in making the appropriation for the bridge.

John W. Slaughter and Edward Mersman, prominent real estate dealers, were here this week making arrangements for the purchase of J. C. Bowles' tract of timber land on Cedar creek. The consummation of this purchase would mean the expenditure of much money in this immediate section, not alone for the purchase price of land and timber, but for the developing of the timber that will consequently follow.—Pikeville Herald.

Miss Alice Perry, a popular Greenup county school teacher, was struck on the nose by a ball Saturday at the Fullerton Reunion which resulted in her nose being broken. Miss Perry had just entered the ball park and was on her way to the grandstand when one of the players let the ball go through his hands. She was taken at once to Dr. Nichol's office where the injury was given medical attention. The accident was at first thought to be serious but the physicians now think she will recover.

Pikeville, Ky., Sept. 17.—J. L. Strickland was arrested yesterday at Bessie, Va., over in Dickinson county, just a few miles beyond Elkhorn City, by Revenue Officer John Potter, of this place, and detectives Jack Horton, of Charleston, and Charles Burchfield, of Cincinnati, both of whom are in the government service at Washington. The capture was effected at Bart Lick lumber camps, near Bessie, and he was brought to Pikeville on the 5 o'clock train last night and guarded at the Williamson House over night, as he claimed he was ill. He is wanted on several charges, one being the forging of a check for $100 on a Huntington party, and many other forgeries; also for using the mails for illegal purposes. The two detectives, Horton and Burchfield, have been on the trail to this man for the past three years, and estimate that they have traveled ten thousand miles in the search for him.

The above note pinned to the pillow on the bed in the room at the Keller Hospital occupied by Ed Conley, of Kentucky, and found by the night nurse Sunday morning was the first intimation which those at the hospital had that Conley had taken his departure for pastures new. He had been there three weeks with a gun shot wound of the liver, having been shot while resisting arrest at Lynn, Ky. He shot, but not fatally, both the constable and his deputy. Dr. Keller had reported him Saturday as being able to sit up and walk from his bed to his chair, his wounds not yet healed. When the nurse went to his room Sunday morning to serve his breakfast she found the very grateful note. What time in the night he left or which way he went are unknown. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

A Column Dedicated To Tired Mothers
As They Join The Home Circle
At Evening Tide.

God sees all we do, but the few things our neighbors find out cause us the most worry.

It is easy enough to be pleasant when life flows by like a song; but the man worth while is the one who will smile when everything goes dead wrong.

Nothing on earth is more beloved, esteemed and honored in the world's great heart than a noble youth, one whose character is pure; whose aims are high; whose life is a model essay.

A mother's love consists of all the higher elements of the different kinds of love, but has two qualities no other love has—changeableness—which makes it to changeableness—which makes it to be the most precious of all love.

There is no need to spur the American housewife to greater exertions on behalf of her family. What she needs is a curb to restrain her often over-ambitious, overstrained sense of duty. She aims for too great perfection in some lines, and usually succeeds admirably in her intent. But at what a cost; with what a friction of nerves; with what a waste of vital force.

We believe there would be more frugality in the homes if men would give their wives a reasonable amount of money for household expenses, and let them have all they can save out of it for their own use; and men, too, would be better off than in the unmethodical and haphazard way in which most homes are run. Women would be more apt to study kitchen economy if they could see a reward ahead. A nation of thrifty men cannot be born of thriftless mothers. Women have need to know more of business, and think more of means to ends than is usual among them.

It does make us tired—slang is extensible here—to read the census reports giving the number of women "engaged in self-supporting occupations," said list including clerks, typewriters, school teachers, etc., but not one wife and mother. As if the woman who darns her husband's stockings, keeps the children's faces clean, cooks for a family of a dozen, more or less, keeps the house in order, washes, irons, bakes, mends, sews, sweeps, nurses the sick, spansks the erring, and keeps an eye on a thousand and one things from early morning till late at night, and then sleeps with one eye open lest Tommy kicks the bed clothes off or baby shows signs of croup, were not "self-supporting." But come to think of it, she isn't. She supports all the rest of the family, and, in nine cases out of ten, has neither time nor strength left to look out for herself.

HELPING MOTHER.

Girls, what are you doing to help your mothers? There are many households where the older girls might assume a large share of the burdens of housekeeping and lighten in many ways the labor of the over-taxed mothers. It seems as if the young girls of the present day are almost too much absorbed in becoming accomplished parlor ornaments to descend to anything so menial as cleaning up a room, making beds and arranging table, and yet what more useful knowledge could be attained or what accomplishment could be so admired in any girl as the desire and willingness to lighten a poor mother's cares and toils? Many a young woman sits and reads Tennyson, or opens hours at her piano or organ or painting, while her mother is doing the entire work of the family. There is a time for all things; Tennyson, music and art are very good in their place, and we would not have you suppose we desire you to do otherwise than enjoy them, but help mother first.

Is it worth while to let the mind that God has given you lose all its vigor for lack of exercise? If you fail to take bodily exercise the body shrivels and decays prematurely. If you fail to take mental exercise the mind withers. Set apart some time for reading, thinking and talking every day. Keep the evenings for books and helpful talk with your own. Life will be happier and richer for it. The mind is wonderfully responsive. A little time each day devoted to a good book will amount to a great deal in a year. You are not a mere animal that you should be content to eat, to sleep, to labor and to die. The life of the mind is as important as the life of the body. Keep your mind young and active and strong for your own sake and for your family's sake. Your husband will offer you a fuller confidence, a more trusting love, and your children will be proud of you if you are an intelligent woman.

KINDNESS.

Mothers, be kind to your little children, do not be harsh with them, but make their little lives pleasant while you can, for you know not how soon your precious little jewels will be snatched from you by the cruel hand of death, and, oh, how those cruel words will burn in your heart, when you see those little faces cold in death. Kind words will make them obedient, while harsh words will only make them stubborn. Everyone appreciates a kind word.

The forty-fifth annual meeting of the Baptist General Association of West Virginia will open in Fairmont October 14th for a six days' session. Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 15.—J. K. Sayre, a merchant of Rackett, Ritchie county, was arrested at Harpersville today on the charge of having murdered his 17-year-old wife on the day he married her in this city. A warrant for Sayre's arrest was issued this afternoon by Squire G. Butcher, and he will be brought to this city tomorrow and arraigned.

A fire occurred about five o'clock this morning at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Chaffin on the river bank. The immediate cause of the fire is not known, but as the fire started in the room occupied by Mrs. Chaffin's brother, who had been summoned by the call boy a short while before, it is supposed that a cigarette stump he threw down caused the conflagration. While little damage was done to the house nearly all of Mrs. Chaffin's furniture was destroyed. There was no insurance on the latter, though we understand the house carried about $1,000.—Williamson Enterprise.

Monday a week since Mrs. J. B. Slater had the misfortune to fall down the stairs of her residence on Harvey street, this city, suffering severe internal injuries. Since that time she has been very ill, and for a while her life was despaired of. She is now improving somewhat, and hopes are entertained for her recovery. All her children have been by her bedside during her illness, and every attention both medical and otherwise is being offered. Mrs. Slater is seventy-four years of age, which makes her illness more serious than it would have been in a younger person.—Williamson Enterprise.

An injunction was awarded last week by Judge Doolittle, upon the petition of some of the citizens of Ceredo district, restraining and inhibiting the Board of Education of that district from further maintaining the general school at Buffalo creek, and from discontinuing the schools in four sub-districts. The Board has given notice that it will ask for a dissolution of the injunction and the matter has been set for argument before Judge Wilkinson some time this week. The Board feels confident that it has in no way transgressed the statutes in such cases made and provided and feels confident of victory.

The squirrel season in West Virginia opened the 1st inst., the last Legislature having changed the opening date from September 10 to September 1. There are several other changes in the game laws which hunters might do well to note. There is no longer a rabbit law it being legal to kill rabbits the year around. Rabbits are the only game that can be sold under the new game laws. Quail, squirrel, pheasants and other similar kinds of game cannot be sold. The new quail law is different than the old one, it having been changed from November 1 to December 20 as was formerly the case. It is also necessary under the new law to secure a hunter's license costing $1 to a resident of the State unless you are hunting on your own farm which is, of course, different, no license then being necessary.

O. B. Bias, who lives up on the head of Hewett, was arrested last Thursday charged with committing rape upon one of his daughters, the girl making the complaint, and was tried before Justice W. W. White. Friday Bias was brought to Madison and lodged in the county jail. We are informed that this is the second time he has been charged with committing this crime within his family circle.—Boone Democrat.

M. J. Ferguson, who was raised in Wayne county, has been elected cashier of the American Bank & Trust Company at Huntington. This is the position made vacant by the recent death of H. S. Corby.

Col. John T. McGraw, the Democratic leader in West Virginia, has had a diamond drill in operation for some days at the mouth of Sand Lick, in Holly district, Webster county, to ascertain the mineral wealth there. The drill went through rock formations to the depth of 320 feet, when it struck a red-colored rock, just below which the drill went through a thick formation, samples of which brought to the surface are declared to be rich in gold. Col. McGraw is changing his Midland Railroad in Webster county from a narrow to a standard gauge. He is also extending the road ten miles in length, and this will open a large lumber territory. Col. McGraw, who owns the famous Webster Springs, is the pioneer railroad builder in Webster county.

Last Saturday was a day pleasantly spent by the old soldiers of the Confederacy and their sympathizers at the reunion of the Confederate veterans. There was a very good attendance of the veterans and of other persons interested in their meeting. Camp Garnett, of Huntington, had several representatives at the reunion among whom were Mr. Cammack, Commander of the Camp, Major Bennett, and some others we did not know. The speeches made by the veterans were in a happy vein felicitat-ing the Johnnies on their long lease of life and containing many reminiscences of war times. The speakers of the occasion were Col. Love, of Kentucky, Mr. Miller, of Florida, and Capt. Joseph M. Ferguson, of Ashland. Dinner in abundant profusion was served on the ground and was partaken of with a relish. The ranks of these war-time heroes are gradually thinning out, and at each recurring reunion some of the familiar faces of the year before are sorrowfully missed and the hush that follows the calling of his name at roll call brings a heartache to the valiant comrade left surviving. The town Wayne has been signally honored by the old soldiers in choosing it as the place of these annual reunions.—Wayne News.

Clean Bread

5 CENTS A LOAF
The Bread That's Guaranteed

EVER hear of a guaranteed bread before? Sounds queer doesn't it. But that's the kind of bread the Clean Bread is—a bread that's guaranteed—a bread that must please you or your money is refunded.

But CLEAN BREAD is more than simply a guaranteed bread, however. It is a "home made bread." A bread such as you, Mrs. Housewife, bake in your own oven made in the very same way, yet it is a better bread, because it is made under the same condition day after day, by expert bakers who have spent years in practical bread making.

CLEAN BREAD is exceedingly rich in gluten. Much richer in fact than your own home made bread, because it is made from flour milled especially for our exclusive use—flour that produces a fine grained solid snowy white loaf, yet retaining all the nutriment of the whole wheat.

CLEAN BREAD is made in a clean, sanitary bakery, and baked in the finest continuous baking oven in the world.

We want you to try one loaf of CLEAN BREAD. We want you to taste it in every way possible, and if it does not suit you absolutely—if you do not think it is even better than the "home made" bread you bake, your grocery will refund the purchase price.

Now, that's claiming a heap for a loaf of bread, isn't it? But you'll agree with us that CLEAN BREAD is the best bread you have ever tasted, after you have sampled your trial loaf.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Pikeville, Ky., Sept. 18.—Ed Endicott was killed a few days ago at Coal Run. He was in the employ of Ireland Lowe, the timberman, and was propelling a truck on a tramway, when, going down a steep incline, he fell off the truck directly in front of it, and it passed over him. Being heavily loaded, it crushed the life out of him. Endicott was quite a young man; however, he leaves a family.

Miss Anna, daughter of P. F. Preston, of this place, was married at 5 o'clock this morning to Eugene Daniels, of Paintsville. Only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony, among them being a married sister of the bride from Paintsville, the groom's sister, Mrs. Zora Daniels, and a brother, Ransom Daniels, both of Paintsville. The couple left on No. 37 at 6 o'clock for their future home at Paintsville. The bride is a sweet girl, and will be greatly missed by her many friends here.—Pikeville Item.

Sunflower Philosophy.

When you tell a man a secret, and say to him: "Don't say anything about it," you give him notice that he knows something worth telling.

The boys used to dress like cowboys, and long to run off and fight Indians. Now they will dress like Arctic explorers, and long to run away and find the North Pole.

Don't accept every opportunity to tell a "funny story." Maybe you do not tell funny stories well; and hear in mind that many people dislike them as much as they dislike children playing exercises on the piano.

"I can't do anything for you," a rich man will say to all appeals for charity. "I have poor kin of my own." And when the poor kin hear of his excuse they look wildly around for a soft spot in which to throw a fit.

Peruna Tablets Tested.

What are the Peruna Tablets good for? Has anybody used them enough to know what they will do? Read the following letter and see. If you have any doubt as to the genuineness of the letter, write to Mrs. Lohr, enclose a stamp for reply, and see whether her testimonial is genuine or not:

The Peruna Drug Co.

In regard to the Peruna Tablets, I have used about ten boxes in all.

While I was in Chicago my oldest daughter was bothered with a cough all the time. She has had it for four years. Sometimes it would go away, and in the winter time it was so bad that the doctors and professors said that she had consumption, and the only way to give her any relief was to perform an operation.

I spend so much money for different medicines, and for doctors also. Nothing seemed to help her.

So I saw the Peruna Tablets advertised in the paper, and I got a box and tried them. She could get some sleep by taking them. She would cough all night and cough. So in all she took six boxes, and never was bothered any more.

I will leave this for any one to inquire at our old residence, where we lived in Chicago. All our neighbors would say that she could not live with such a cough. You don't know how thankful I am. She is eighteen years old.

My oldest son also was bothered with his stomach, throwing up, and his bowels so loose all the time. He was all run down for four months. I also doctored with him. One would say this and the other something else. I started in to give him the Tablets, and now he is all right and healthy looking. He took four boxes. That is all he wants to take whenever anything ails him.

So I praise your Tablets just as high as I have your Peruna. That is all the medicine that ever comes in my house. Whenever I travel I take some with me. I have had three of my children sick with scarlet fever two months ago, and that is all I used, was the Peruna and the Tablets. I did not lose any of them.

If there is any more information you want, why just let me know and I will be glad to do so. Yours truly,
Mrs. L. LOHR, Ravenna, Mich.
